

INFORMATION LETTER

Dear colleagues!

We would like to invite you to take part in the XI National Congress with international participation "Ecology and human health in the North", which will be held in Yakutsk on November 16-20, 2020.

The Congress, is held every year at North-Eastern Federal University, is a unique platform for exchanging experience and ideas in various fields of medical science and medicine: fundamental, clinical and preventive. This year, issues and prospects for the development of medical education, advanced innovative technologies in the training of medical personnel will be discussed. The program of the Congress traditionally includes various formats of scientific events: plenary reports, conferences in different areas of medical science, lectures, master-classes for practicing doctors, subject Olympiads for students.

This year, due to the spread of a new coronavirus infection, the Congress events could be held online, depending on the epidemiological situation in the region. Despite the this present difficulties, we hope that the Congress will trigger wide interest among practitioners, health care organizers, young scientists, postgraduates, residents, undergraduates and students, will allow all of us to share the results of scientific research with colleagues, discuss pressing issues of practical health care and medical science. The organizing Committee of the Congress praises the all partners for their support in organizing the XI Congress and looks forward to further fruitful cooperation.

We are eagerly waiting for interesting proposals for the scientific program of the XI National Congress with international participation "Ecology and human health in the North" from scientific, educational and medical institutions, professional communities and associations.
